SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS: EXAMPLE ICE-CREAM PRODUCTION

MONICA GELATI, SALY (SENEGAL)

Monica Gelati is probably one of the best ice-cream places in Senegal, based in the tourist area of Saly at the beautiful Senegalese coast. Its ice-cream has the reputation of being excellent – in spite of a sometimes poor local water quality.

Kwatee water purification system

After analyzing the water and finding bacteria and lots of limescale, Kwatee installed a multi stage filtration system. It removes all unwanted components such as lime, particles, off-flavors such as chlorine and organic compounds and adds Magnesium to the water for a rich and smooth taste of the original Italian ice-cream.

Soft water for Italian ice-cream

Monica Gelati uses only best Italian products, the ice-cream is produced in Italian machinery. Therefore, with the move from Dakar to Saly, a water treatment system was installed in December 2017. Now the quality of the ice-cream is independent of the water quality, because it is always the same purified excellent drinking water.

Technology

Kwatee has a wide range of products, from filters for houses, hotels, restaurants up to desalination plants for villages etc. In this case for Monica Gelati a combination of water softener and ultrafiltration system was installed.

HIGHLY PURIFIED DRINKING WATER

„Non-stop ice-cream production“

Important for the owner Mr. Sylla was that the installation was done during a time when production is not running. The installation went smooth during a weekend break.

„It tastes soooo good“

Mr. Sylla decided to go for a system that adds also minerals to the water using the flavour carrier Magnesium (Mg²⁺) to achieve the full taste of drinks, coffee, tea or cocoa – or ice-cream.
